Posh Laura Wade

Posh is a play by the British playwright Laura Wade. It was first staged at the Royal Court Theatre downstairs in 2010. The play concerns an Oxford student dining club called "The Riot Club", a fictionalised version of the Bullingdon Club. The first production, produced during the British General Election, received favourable reviews.

Posh (play) - Wikipedia

I first heard of Laura wade through 'breathing corpses'; my favourite play and now after reading 'Posh' she is becoming one of my favourite playwrights. I don't have much to say apart from I wish I could've seen it staged. flag 1 like · Like · see review Apr 20, 2015 Doug rated it really liked it · review of another edition

Laura Wade is the scourge of the Bullingdon Club, apparently. Her play Posh – and the film that followed it, The Riot Club – has so besmirched the Buller's reputation that, these days, no self-respecting Old Etonian would be seen dead in a mustard waistcoat. Far from a move that makes you for life, it's become a form of career suicide.
